

SANDRA T. LEMIRE

Sandra has been published in an interesting range of venues starting in 1982, specifically focused on raising Yorkshire Terriers and the Care of Toy Dogs. Eight years of her research led to bacterial studies related to Dog Breeding and infertility—Zoonotic Diseases. She lectured for approximately 14 years in both the US and Canada regarding “Bacterial Safeguards.”

Over subsequent years she expanded her knowledge and nurtured another passion that she was driven to follow—pursuing Entrepreneurship. She has started and owned nine businesses from several Sole Proprietorships, four Corporations and an LLC (Limited Liability Company).

Sandra is the Founder of “Coat Handler” aka Senproco, Inc. pet care products starting in 1985. These products are still being sold worldwide. She is an accomplished manufacturer of premium products sold in international markets for over twenty-five years.

“Form, Function & Fancy” is her first book, Self-Published with contributions from Kristen Dickinson in 1996. It is focused on a Microbiology study covering eight years to educate people about Zoonotic Diseases and the Fading Puppy Syndrome. It documented her studies on Staphylococcus Aureus which took twenty years to finally become known as MRSA. It has been sold around the world to breeders and Dog Show Exhibitors for over 20 years.

“Yorkies Head to Tail” was published in 1999 by Paper Chase Press as her second release. This book is commonly known as “The Yorkie Bible.”

In 2012 she introduced “E-Girls” Entrepreneurial Women,” first edition, published by West Bow Press and began striving to share 32 years of business experiences and expertise with a female audience that is yearning to venture into their own businesses.

After attending Pima Community College in Tucson, Arizona in 2012-2014 at age 66, she knew she needed to offer an updated version of her last work. She recently released, “E-Girls Entrepreneurial Women—REVISED EDITION” published in 2018 by Book Art Press. She is only able to satisfy her desire to educate by writing about her experiences and reaching out a helping hand to other women who have a ‘DREAM’.

Her latest work just released is her first memoir, “If Only I Could Read MY MIND.” This is her own story of “The Battle to Reinvent Yourself” after her brain injury in 1998. It shares the real issues of dealing with permanent brain damage and finding HOPE in her recovery.
